

TOP 11 Reasons why your Company needs Professional Driver Training:

1. Investment in training is minimal compared to the cost of accidents and lawsuits
2. Having professionally trained and certified drivers can lead to potential Insurance Premium savings
3. Being trained in correct wheelchair securement procedures will lead to lower incidents, accidents and down time
4. Even the best built and safest vehicles aren't effective if the wheelchair passenger isn't properly secured
5. Having certified drivers can set your company above your competitors when attracting customers
6. In person training allows drivers to practice securement techniques and ask questions before experiencing situations with actual passengers
7. Gives your drivers knowledge and compliance with the ADA law
8. Trained drivers are more confident which results in more positive customer interactions
9. Improved customer service skills leads to happier passengers, a better riding experience, and greater loyalty
10. Increased employee loyalty – your investment in their training shows you value your drivers
11. Training is more than just demonstrating the “How-to” – we want you to understand the “Why” behind what you do. People with disabilities are people first, and they rely on you and your drivers to get where they need to go.
