Interagency Communications Planning for FIFA World Cup

- Multi-Agency Coordination: Establishing Memorandums of Understanding (MOUs) and embedding liaisons across transportation, law enforcement, and emergency operations for seamless information flow.
- Integrated Communications Platforms: Utilizing smart technologies, real-time data analytics, and instant notification systems for efficient updates and crowd management.
- Scenario-Based Training & Contingency Planning: Developing detailed plans for potential disruptions like severe weather, security threats, and major traffic incidents, as emphasized by the NOCoE.
- Public Safety Focus: Law enforcement is establishing special event divisions, preparing for large crowds and high-stakes security, with officials confident in Atlanta's readiness.
- Branding & Messaging: Creating inclusive, consistent, and culturally sensitive messaging across all channels (digital, social, traditional media) to reach diverse audiences.

Positive HERO feedback on Facebook

“Well, I had a new experience tonight. I had the misfortune to strike an object on I-285 in fairly heavy traffic at approximately 2200 hours (10 o'clock PM for those who don't understand military time). I don't know what it was, but it blew out my left front tire. I got across the two adjacent lanes and into the emergency lane, where I stopped. Being dark and fairly heavy traffic, I did not feel safe changing the tire next to the traffic lane, so I called 511. The operator said someone would be with me shortly. In less than 19 minutes, help arrived, and after I got the kit out to lower the spare from under the rear of my truck, the HERO operator had my tire changed and had me ready to continue home in short order. I asked him if there was a charge and he said, "No sir, this is a free service." I asked if I could tip him and he said, "No sir, we are not allowed to accept tips, you are ready to go, have a good night." I am sorry I didn't get his name, because I feel that tonight he was a lifesaver. I am much impressed with the Georgia HERO units.”
